

The 13 Colonies & Taxation without Representation Chain Reaction

A Chain Reaction is defined as a process in which the products themselves promote or spread the reaction, which under certain conditions may accelerate dramatically. It is also defined as a series of events, each caused by the previous one. Below are four (4) chain reactions that occurred in the years leading up to the Revolutionary War. Use the book, your notes & most importantly your brain to fill in the chain reactions.

Stamp Act of 1765

1a. The British Parliament passed the Stamp Act (1765) in order to...

1b. Colonist responded to the act by....

1c. Britain responded to the colonists by...

Townshend Act of 1794

2a. The British Parliament passed the Townshend Act (1767) in order to...

2b. Colonist responded to the Acts by...

2c. Britain responded to the colonist by...

Tea Act of 1773

3a. The British Parliament passed the Tea Act (1773) in order to...

3b. Colonist responded to the act by...

3c. Britain responded to the colonist by...

Intolerable Acts of 1774

4a. The British Parliament passed the Intolerable Acts (1774) in order to...

4b. Colonists responded to the act by...

4c. Britain responded to the colonists by...